BRIEF SUMMARY

A health check-up camp was organized at Raje Ramrao Mahavidyalaya on the occasion of Savitribai Phule's birth anniversary, in collaboration with the Women Empowerment Cell, Internal Complaint Cell, and IQAC between 03rd January 2025. The event was inaugurated by Mr. M.H. Karennavar, the Vice Principal of the college. Dr. Pranoti D. Teli, an MBBS doctor from the Government of Maharashtra's Ayushman Arogya Centre in Jath, led the health checkups. The program was coordinated by Dr. M.Y. Shinde co-ordinator of women empowerment cell, with support from Miss. Lata Karande co-ordinator of Internal complaint cell and IQAC co-ordinator Dr. S.R. Kulal under the supervision of Principal Prof. Dr. Suresh S. Patil. Total 142 participants registered for the programme. The camp saw active participation senior students as well as faculty.

- Purpose of the Camp: The primary goal of this health checkup camp was to offer free medical checkups and health assessments to the students and faculty, promote health awareness, and encourage preventive healthcare.
- Date and Duration: The camp was held on 03-01-2025 from 10.30am to 3.00pm.
- Objectives :
 1. To provide basic health screenings.
 2. To raise awareness about common health issues and preventive measures.
 3. To promote the importance of regular health checkups.
 4. To offer expert consultations from healthcare professionals.

- Acknowledgements

We would like to extend our sincere gratitude to Principal Prof. Dr. Suresh S. Patil for his leadership and support in organizing committee this camp. All the medical professionals and volunteers for their contributions. The participants for their active involvement and cooperation.

- Conclusion

The health check-up camp was a success, fulfilling its purpose of providing essential health services and raising awareness about health issues. We plan to continue organizing such camps in the future to ensure better health outcomes for the community.

• OUTCOMES OF STUDENT ORIENTATION PROGRAMME:

Organizing a health check up camp for girls and ladies staff on the occasion of Savitribai Phule's birth anniversary is a great initiative, as it aligns with her legacy of advocating for education and empowerment, particularly for women and girls. Here are some potential outcomes from such a camp:

1. Awareness of Health Issues

General Health Awareness: Participants gain knowledge about common health issues affecting women, such as menstrual health and nutrition.

Preventive Health: Awareness about the importance of preventive measures like regular check-ups and self-care routines.

2. Early Detection of Health Problems

Screening for Diseases: Detection of early signs of conditions like anemia.

Mental Health Awareness: Identifying symptoms of stress, depression or anxiety and guiding participants on mental health resources.

3. Health Education

Promoting Healthy Lifestyles: Providing tips on staying active, maintaining a balanced diet, and avoiding harmful habits.

4. Access to Health Resources

Health Checkups: Free or subsidized access to vital health tests such as blood pressure, blood sugar, cholesterol, and BMI (Body Mass Index).

Counselling Services: Availability of health professionals for one-on-one consultations, addressing specific health concerns of the participants.

5. Building Empowerment through Health

Increased Confidence: Women feel more empowered to prioritize their health, which contributes to overall personal and professional well-being.

Encouragement of Self-Care: Helping women recognize the importance of self-care in balancing their professional and personal lives.

6. Community Building

Support Networks: Creating a sense of community where women can share experiences, learn from each other, and support each other's health journeys.

Collaboration with Health Experts: Involving doctors, nutritionists, and wellness experts to provide valuable services to participants.

7. Encouraging Regular Health Checkups

Motivation for Future Health Monitoring: Encouraging women to schedule regular health check-ups and establish health routines.

Follow-Up Care: Facilitating follow-up appointments or connections to healthcare providers for any issues detected during the camp.

8. Reflection of Savitribai Phule's Legacy

Inspiration for Education and Empowerment: By connecting the event with Savitribai Phule's dedication to education and women's rights, the camp serves as a reminder of her advocacy for women's empowerment through knowledge and health.

This initiative could have a lasting impact on improving the health and well-being of the participants, fostering a culture of self-care and awareness among women in the community.
